*A note on our fries – please be aware that our fries do not contain gluten HOWEVER we do fry them in the same oil as we fry other flour coated products. They are fried at very high temperature and will never be fried at the same time as other flour products. If you have an intolerance to gluten our fries should be fine for you to consume, however if you are a coeliac we do not recommend them. We are happy to substitute fries for a green salad at any time
